

Crewel Linen: Unfinished Business

An Installation by Cate Bourke

A centennial/commemorative work in memory of the 146 workers who died in the Triangle Shirtwaist Factory fire in New York City in 1911, made up of an eight foot length of shirtwaist cloth for every one of the victims, whose names are embroidered on each panel.

Also on view by the same artist, a participatory installation entitled Study in Black and White exploring racial disparities in this country's socioeconomic conditions.
